I have been figure skating for years, i injured my left ankle, Came back on the ice even stronger then i was before. Now i would like to achieve my goals and dreams, My dream is to be in disney on ice, and become a certified personal trainer. My highest jumps so far is only doubles, and i am still trying to achieve the double axel, while trying to improve all my spins.

Annabelle Jones

Hi Y'all!

My name is Annabelle Jones & I am a wife, mother of two boys, auntie, teacher and ice skater. I have received my BS Degree from the University of North Carolina at Greensboro in 1999 & earned my M.Ed in Gifted Education from Elon University in 2019 with a 4.0 GPA. I have also earned an Academically & Intellectually Gifted (AIG) K-12 Certification. I have been a teacher for over 20 years. In 2017, I was awarded an Award from UNC-Greensboro as a Distinguished Alumni Award Recipient. Currently, I am finishing up a project on a cohort of educators from NC, Kentucky & Iowa on a groundbreaking pilot program with National Geographic! I am passionate about my career and just as passionate about ice skating. I took up skating as an adult and have experience teaching Learn To Skate classes with the Greensboro Ice House as well as dressing up as a famous princess character for children's birthday parties on ice! I have participated in helping out with the community, such as can food drives for the local rink's holiday can food drive, by opening the show and signing the National Anthem in sign language while skating on ice! I've enjoyed performing with the Sealy Fox 8/Greensboro symphony a few times with the adult group from the Greensboro Ice House which also helps increase food supplies in the local food banks. I have skated pairs and have passed my pre-bronze moves in the field, all basic adult levels and basic pairs levels. My goal is to get more into the free movement on ice, choreographing to different genres & styles of music. To me, it's all about the artistic elements. Skating gives me such an intrinsic value, just enjoying it for the art itself. I wouldn't mind skating pairs again, but I'm also totally okay with skating solo!

I've been skating for many years however I'd love to tell my story of the grind, set backs and improvements, and all the steps I'm taking to achieve gold at the next Adult Nationals. I'd also love to open a dialogue about the growth within adult skating. Our community has more momentum than ever and I'd love to shed light on the topic and continue to motivate all adults within US Figure skating.

I began figure skating when I was just 4 years old and ever since I have been obsessed with it. My coach and my mom pushed me to my limits every time I stored on the ice and because of them I became a better skater. At 10 years old I became a competitive figure skater, I won a gold medal at my very first competition and since then I have been hooked. I am now 19 years old and still continue to follow my dreams as a professional figure skater.

I decided to pass my passion for figure skating on to younger generation so I decided to start assisting with coaching on learn to skate children and not only have I taught them things but they age taught me more than I could ever dream of, they taught me what it was like when I was young and starting to skate, they taught me how to say I can instead of I can't again. Coaching made me a better skater again.

Liam has aspired to be the best goalie he can be since the young age of 7. He definitely had the talent to pursue his dream of playing travel hockey, but as a single mother, I could not afford it and the time commitment just wasn't possible due to my job. Liam always understood why I said he couldn't play travel, but I always knew that deep down inside, he was disappointed. Despite how much he wanted to play at a higher level, he never let that interfere with playing his best at the Rotary level. Years later, my brother asked if Liam would be interested in playing ringette for the U16's, as they did not have a goalie. This was the birth of a new dream. We made the commitment to travel the 45 minutes to practices and games and I don't regret it for one minute. Liam fell in love with a sport that is primarily dominated by women. He has played for 3 years now and has overcome obstacles that I never thought he would have to face. He learned a new sport in a very short time and he had to ignore comments from opponents that were hurtful towards his team. I'm very proud of the goalie he has become. He has learned to win graciously and to lose graciously and above all, he has learned that dreams can come true.

I just started skating in December and I can't believe how much I've learned already. I was so nervous for my first competition that I had the butterflies the whole time! I hope to get more comfortable during competitions and learn how to jump.

I started playing hockey at five years old, I am now sixteen. I grew up in a small town, our closest AA team being two hours away. I played A Tier 1,2 or 3 hockey until my last year of Pee Wee where I ended up with 97 points. In my first year of Bantam my mom, my brother and I moved to Spruce Grove Ab where I tried out for Bantam AAA. The tryouts were intense but I made the team and we started a new school and a new season there. Besides being away from my dad and two older sisters, I had a great year!!

Hockey has taught me so much about life. I have met so many people, made tons of friends, been coached by awesome coaches, even travelled to different countries to play, Hockey has taught me how to work hard, to be motivated and confident, it has taught me respect, how to be a team player, and how to be a leader in hockey and in life.. I am now in my third season in Spruce Grove, Ab, last year I made U16AAA, and hopefully this season I make the U18 AAA.

I plan to ride the sport for as long as I can, whether it's Junior, College hockey, or whatever other opportunities may present.

You never know what's around the corner when you're striving to be the very best you can be in a sport that love!!
